TRADITIONAL ENGLISH GARDEN

A patio area abuts the rear of the home, which is an ideal space to take in some breakfast, with the early morning sun it receives owing to its orientation. Leading off of the patio area, a garden arch opens up onto the rest of the garden with a pathway leading to two further patio areas, one being of a southerly orientation, the other a westerly orientation, ideal spaces for that afternoon BBQ or evening tittle. The aforementioned pathway is flanked by established garden beds and the garden features a variety of seasonal bulbs and planting in addition to the more established planting. Some notable examples are the Sun King shrub, an evergreen Honeysuckle and a mature blackcurrant bush, which we are reliably informed makes the best blackcurrant jam. A truly charming and inviting garden.

WORKSHOP

9' 10" x 7' 10" (3m x 2.4m)

A timber workshop nestles at the rear of the garden, with light and power.
